'Plot' on Khrushchev's Life Labelled Soviet Propaganda

BUT NOT NIKITA

Ike to Meet Some Leaders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower will confer with some foreign leaders Thursday after his United Nations speech but stressed that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is not on his calling list.

GRATEFUL

New UN States Take Middle Road

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—New African countries at the United Nations indicated today they will try to steer an independent course in the cold war.

Making their maiden speeches before the 96-member General Assembly, African representatives expressed gratitude for their admittance to the UN Tuesday and also spoke of their admiration for France. Most of them recently won independence within the French community.

Charles Okala of Cameroon, rejecting the idea of involvement in the global power struggle between the Soviet Union and the United States, said "ideological colonization" was as bad as the other kind of "colonization."

The speeches by the African countries and also Cyprus, another new member, delayed until late today election of chairmen of the seven principal committees.

RER CHINA

These, together with the assembly's 13 vice-presidents, constitute a steering committee which then is scheduled to consider whether to include on the assembly agenda such ticklish items as Russia's demand for the admission of Red China, the Algerian war and South African apartheid.

The Red China question was expected to be considered this afternoon.

(Canada is expected to receive a vice-presidency, a position which goes to countries rather than to individuals.)

The Soviet Union is carrying the brunt of the campaign this year to get Red China in. India has done it in past years—and there was possibility Nikita Khrushchev would present the case himself.

It was considered more likely, however, that he would leave this to his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, and save himself for his major address to the assembly scheduled officially for Friday.

ONLY HERTER

The White House also said that the President would see only Herter and other American advisers during his morning stay at the Waldorf before he delivers his address to the United Nations Assembly.

During the day, the President worked on the final draft of his UN speech in which he is expected to propose a UN aerial watchdog plan and a sweeping aid program to newly independent African nations.

High U.S. officials said Eisenhower would urge that economic and technical assistance to Africa be channeled through the United Nations to avoid an east-west conflict that

More Holding Jobs

The bureau's estimates, based on its monthly labor force survey of 35,000 households, showed an increase in the numbers of persons with jobs—up 20,000 from mid-July to 630,000 at Aug. 20. This was 115,000 more than a year earlier.

But this gain in employment was outpaced by the expansion of the labor force, which rose by an estimated 3,000 in the month and by 198,000 from a year earlier.

All of the gain in employment from July was among women. At Aug. 20 there were 33,000 more women with jobs than a month earlier, but 13,000 for men.

FEWER REGISTERED

The joint report also showed 363,948 persons were registered for jobs at National Employment Service offices on Aug. 18. This represented a decline of 9,716 from the previous months but was 85,015 higher than a year earlier.

Regional figures of job registrations with the National Employment Service, with bracketed figures for mid-July, 1960, and mid-August, 1959, respectively included British Columbia 44,848 (46,301-34,640).

The anti-Communist 15-member college of high commissioners, appointed Tuesday, and headed by Justin Bombo, took over the main administration building under protection of a platoon of infantrymen and an armored car.

CLOSE MINISTRIES

In rapid succession, they closed the ministries of information and justice, and took over the national radio station. The moves were carried out peacefully. They told civil servants to return to work this afternoon, but advised political appointees to stay away.

At the radio station, military police first let the commissioners in, then hustled them out again at gun point. A commissioner telephoned Mobutu, who then told the military police to allow the commissioners to take possession.

RECORD FOR AUGUST

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada, rising during August for the second month in a row, totalled 322,000 on Aug. 20—up 83,000 from a year earlier—an official report showed today.

The figure was a post-war record for August, exceeding the 281,000 unemployment figure for mid-August, 1958.

The 322,000 total, estimated by the bureau of statistics as "without jobs and seeking work," was 11,000 higher than mid-July's 311,000 unemployed. The same increase in jobless rolls occurred in the previous month.

A joint report by the bureau and the labor department said almost all of the latest increase was in Ontario, largely resulting from auto plant shutdowns.

The rise in unemployment—unusual since jobless figures usually level off during summer months—pushed unemployment to 4.9 per cent of the 6,623,000 member labor force. This compares with 3.7 per cent unemployment a year earlier and 4.7 per cent in mid-July.

It was learned that the president would not see President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic Thursday. But officials did not rule out the possibility of a meeting with Nasser in New York next Monday when Eisenhower goes there to speak at a Catholic charities dinner that night.

Asked about the omission of Cuba and the Dominican Republic from the lunch list, Hagerty said:

"We have no diplomatic relations with the Cuban Republic and we're certainly not going to invite Cuba."

He would not cite any specific reasons for omitting Cuba. But the apparent snub came as no surprise in the light of deteriorating U.S.-Cuban relations.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev who heads his country's delegation to the UN session has gone out of his way to lionize Castro.

Hagerty said the occasion would provide the President with a chance to meet with Latin American officials following two significant sessions of the Organization of American States. He referred to the OAS meeting at San Jose, Costa Rica, and an economic conference at Bogota, Columbia.

CASTRO LEFT FEATHERS, NO CHICKEN

NEW YORK (CP)—The Herald-Tribune says the corps of chambermaids who cleaned up after Premier Fidel Castro and his Cuban United Nations delegation left the Hotel Shelburne in a huff Monday night, found these items:

1. Chicken feathers on a sofa;

2. Cigaret butts, matches and ashes littering the floors;

3. A telephone yanked out of the wall;

4. Pounds of mouldy steak in the refrigerator.

Hotel manager Edward Spatz, who went to hospital Tuesday for treatment of an attack of ulcers, commented: "I want to forget the name of Castro."

They said they had been told that the content and tone of the Russian leader's full-dress presentation to the General Assembly late this week would depend to a considerable extent on what President Eisenhower says when he speaks Thursday morning.

Khrushchev is scheduled to follow the President speaking Thursday afternoon or Friday.

There was a feeling among many UN delegates that they

Hints Again He'd Like to Meet Ike

The bouncy Soviet leader so far has been a model of affability, hamming it up for photographers with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and speaking only of his desire for peaceful coexistence in a miraculously disarmed world.

Monday night, during a spur-of-the-moment visit to the UN delegates' lounge, he indicated again he might like to meet with Eisenhower. When asked by reporters how long he would stay here, he jokingly replied "about two weeks after the assembly ends." This would keep him here almost three months.

Complaints of Padding Silenced by Election

Chief electoral officer Fred Hurley hasn't heard any more from the people who were charging before B.C.'s Sept. 12 election that voters' lists were padded.

No action has been taken because there have been no legal complaints, said Mr. Hurley.

A complaint was made by telegram to the Vancouver returning officer and registrar of voters before the election that lists in Vancouver Centre were "padded" with names of persons either dead or moved away.

But so far no one has made a legal complaint to a county court judge.

Electoral officials say it is far harder to get a name struck off the voters' lists than it is to add one.

One former B.C. voter, living in Ottawa three years, managed to return and cast a legal ballot in North Vancouver ver. He was on the voters' list in 1956, but moved in 1957.

An electoral official said in order to protect voting privileges "the law makes it difficult to remove names."

Although enumerators canvassed large areas this year, they are required to sign an affidavit for proof an elector has moved away from his listed district.

"That would be taking a big chance," said the official, "because the voter might be in another part of the district."

However, the Ottawa man could have been challenged at the polls and his vote held invalid. Now it is too late.

Other ways in which voters can be struck off the list:

By notification in a monthly report to all districts from the department of vital statistics that they are dead. This still doesn't cover people who die away from their home electoral district.

The 'Hoover' Commission

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT'S "Hoover" commission on public economy may do much useful work, like that of its American model.

As Mr. Herbert Hoover and his colleagues in the United States managed to whittle large sums of money from the national budget, so the Canadian commission may propose valuable reforms in our budget. For assuredly in a budget so large there must be substantial waste, and in a governmental machine so large there must be overlapping, inefficiency and unnecessary personnel.

But as the commission begins its detailed study of public expenditures we should be clear about two points.

The first is that, without basic changes in policy, the federal budget will continue to increase every year no matter what economies the commission may propose.

Most of these increases are automatic. To take a simple example from among many, old age pensions and children's allowances must rise in cost as the population rises. And apart from such automatic expansion of the state's costs, our governments, of both parties, are always seeking new ways of spending money on things that they consider desirable, or at least popular.

The second point is that the commission must concern itself not with national policy but only with the administration of policy.

It will consider whether the money voted by Parliament for various purposes is thrifitly spent. It will not consider whether the money should have been voted in the first place. It will not be asked to say whether the nation is attempting to spend too much through government, whether our national economy can afford the ever-increasing load of state costs placed upon it.

That is a question for government, for Parliament and for the people to decide and it is the paramount question which most politicians and most private citizens sedulously evade.

The Canadian economy today is generally prosperous but it is obviously distorted and under great strain. It has been unable so far to soak up large local pools of unemployment. Its high production costs and hence its prices retard our sales in foreign markets and are strongly resisted in our own market.

The nation's basic necessity under these conditions is to hold down its costs and prices. In this problem the costs of government play a large part. All taxes must be paid out of production, there being no other source, and are thus part of productive costs. The state's expenditures are reflected finally in our prices, domestic and export.

Since it will not be considering these things, not directly at any rate, the new royal commission will not consider our paramount problem. But within its limits it can perhaps save us some tax money, now simply wasted. If so, its job will be well worth doing.

Unfortunately, however, any money thus saved probably will be spent by government elsewhere unless our basic national policies are changed, our expectation of state miracles modified, our appetite for government expenditures brought closer to our means. Of that there is little sign at Ottawa either in government or opposition.

Solving the School Parking Issue

OAK BAY COUNCIL HAS LAID down the law on student parking in the vicinity of Oak Bay High School. The school board has applauded the restrictions set by the municipality. It's about time.

One argument only seems to have been raised against the new arrangement. It is that boys or girls coming from distant parts of the school district, where bus service is infrequent, will suffer hardship if they cannot drive to class.

How are they injured? If they have to use cars, surely there are parking areas no greater distance from school than the close-in student walks.

As noted in these columns the other day, an insurance company recently conducted a survey in the United States on the effect of the use of cars on students. Its findings were definite. Cars and school work did not mix; grades suffered as young students enjoyed unrestricted use of automobiles.

There are older, thoughtful people in this community who hope that the Oak Bay restrictions will lead to more students walking to school. That, in itself, could be a highly valuable feature of physical training now under careful study throughout the country.

The car is not an essential of scholarship. The council and school trustees are to be commended for their action and reaction respectively.

Ambassador Louis

THIS CITY WAS GRACED over the weekend by a visit from Mr. Louis ("Satchelmouse") Armstrong, ambassador-at-large for the U.S. State Department and unquestionably one of the most interesting personalities of our time.

After two and one half hours of diligent performance, the appeal of Mr. Armstrong was readily apparent to the 4,500 Victorians who jammed Memorial Arena to hear him. Teeth gleaming from an ebony face, brow mopped with an immaculate white handkerchief, Mr. Armstrong threw back his head in exultant expressions of rhythmic joy. What emerged was an enchanting growl strangely reminiscent (in the words of the late comedian, Ned Sparks) of a Bulgarian boll-weevil, bemoaning its first-born."

When Mr. Armstrong did not know, or could not recall, the words to a song, he invented them. The curious jungle dissonances which he put together seemed precisely right.

It is no wonder that Mr. Armstrong's forays into remote corners of the world have been so widely acclaimed. His appeal is universal. The happiness he generates in five minutes is a much better tonic for the world's ills than the bitter polemics of his contemporary, Mr. Paul Robeson.

Tops in Air Gunnery

TO THOSE FAMILIAR WITH the event, it comes as no surprise to learn that the Royal Canadian Air Force jet fliers won the Allied air forces gunnery competition at Cazaux, France, for the third successive year the other day.

To accomplish the feat, they defeated teams from Britain, France, Belgium, Denmark and Holland. In their particular field, the Canadians, including FO William MacArthur of Victoria, are the best in the business.

This seems to bear out tradition.

From the days of Ray Collistar and Billy Bishop to the present Canadian airmen have displayed unique combat skills.

The results of the Cazaux tests indicate that there has been no deterioration in these abilities—a fact of some consequence in these days when so many bemoan the lickings taken by Canadians in other international contests.

In the Land of Roast Beef

A WOMAN CORRESPONDENT for a widely-circulated American newspaper has been telling her readers that Britons are eating the American way.

This has nothing to do with changing the fork from left hand to right after cutting the meat. It concerns the sampling of comestibles at the United States exhibit in the British Food Fair.

The British visitors apparently like the fruit juices, clam chowder, pineapple cake and pumpkin pie.

The feminine correspondent suggests that the sampling and easier access to American foods will start a trend in Britain.

Some people will have misgivings. Anyone who has seen what can happen to a baked potato in the United States—removed from the skin, whipped, replaced, garnished with butter, topped with sour cream, garnished with chives and spices—may think Britons are better off with the old-fashioned spud baked in its jacket and seasoned at the table to the diner's individual taste.

There can be too much of this business of transforming the homely murphy, sending it forth "solicitous to bless in all the glaring impotence of dress"—or dressing as the case may be.

"A Capt. Blood to see you, Mr. Hawkins. . . Oh yes, and that short chap with the wooden leg is still here. Silver, I think the name was . . ."

ON-THE-SPOT REPORTING

Action in the Headlines From Afar

IT'S some years now since I read one of Evelyn Waugh's novels which dealt with press coverage of the war in Ethiopia. The crux of the situation which he created, as I recall, was that the corps of war correspondents established themselves in a comfortable hotel, complete with bar, and made or unmade the war as they felt inclined. Whether or not actual fighting took place didn't seem to matter. There was not a man of them who could not describe a better battle than any troops could fight anyway.

The current hodge-podge of news from the Congo seems to fall into the same pattern as Mr. Waugh's hilarious imaginings.

Incredible

Surely no government of human beings could actually be achieving the fantastic situations that are announced each day from Leopoldville. The whole must be the creation of a bunch of the boys in a back room at Joe's who give free rein to their imaginations and their frustrations in making the news.

It's easy to construct the scene: About 10 o'clock in the morning, half a dozen or more correspondents at the bar getting in shape for a pre-lunch drink, the hot sun beating down in the square outside, and deadline an hour away.

Nobody can find anyone belonging to the Government, the United Nations, the opposition parties, the army or any of the embassies, who is authorized to talk. Something must be done.

"I tell you," says Jones of the Star, "we're getting in a rut. We've hit a pattern of Lumumba up one day and Kasavubu the next. We've got to get some variation into this or people aren't going to read us."

Alternatives

"You're right," says Rankin, a Tribune man. "How about arresting Lumumba every third day, instead of every other day?"

"Yeah," chimes in the Herald's Johnson. "Then we could have the Lumumba Assassinated" rumors every Tuesday and Friday instead of only once a week."

"It might work," says Jones. "What do you think, Jim?"

Jim Brown, of the Mirror, is a little reluctant. "These are only variations of an old theme," he grumbles. "We'll have to come up with something better, if we're going to hold our readers."

Simpson, of the Leader, down his drink. "I've got it!" he cries. "Let's get some fresh blood into the thing. Get some new characters."

"I'll buy that," says Johnson.

"Swell," agrees Brown. "Anybody got any names?"

They all fill their glasses and gaze at the bar.

"M'bolo," murmurs Rankin.

"Gatagawa," says Simpson. "Boto-gutu, Mababada."

"Ungabuda," mutters Jones, frowning.

"Dulimba? Bandoba?"

"Gentlemen," whispers Brown. "Rota-gombulu!"

"Move the nominations close," says Rankin crisply.

"Good old Rotagombulu," Simpson approves. "That's our boy!"

"We've got it made," says Jones happily. "What is he? A tribal chief? Comes in from the jungle, hailed by all the back-country folk, promises to take over affairs and straighten them out to read us."

"That's the stuff," cries Johnson. "The army swarms to support him. There are a few armed clashes in the streets but no one seriously hurt. He's a second cousin of Lumumba and a brother-in-law of Kasavubu's nephew, so neither of them oppose him too strongly at first."

"Now you're logging," says Brown, scribbling rapidly. "The people remember how he once sold a Belgian a canoe with a hole in it. Suddenly he's a popular hero."

"He's been reading books by firelight in his jungle hut," says Rankin. "He's all set to lead a democratic government."

Precarious

"Watch it, watch it," frets Simpson. "Don't forget the weekend editions. We don't want to have this thing wrapped up."

"True," says Jones. "But don't forget M'bolo, or even Bandoba. We can bring one of them in around Friday to hit the Saturday headlines with a reactionary movement."

"Atta boy," says Brown. "Joe! Set 'em up all round while we get ready for a drink before lunch. Here's to Rota-gombulu, the correspondents' choice!"

And that, I'm sure, is how it's done.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Discovering Originality

Whether the controversial subject behind our latest publicity slogan Captain Discovery really existed, he or she a gentleman of distinction, an unprincipled scoundrel, or merely a British sloop, is, perhaps, beside the point.

The important thing is that Mr. Hawkins has injected something different into our Island publicity: an element that has been sorely lacking for a number of years—a fresh, com-mon sense approach to tourism.

Certainly the old slogan "Follow the Birds to Victoria" has served its purpose admirably, but like any phrase or motto it can become hackneyed and impotent through over-use. Moreover, though the birds are still winging their way to our Island it is reasonable to assume that many tourists are also pursuing birds of various domestic loyalties. After all, Victoria has no priority on our feathered friends: they still manage to inhabit other tourist centres.

What is basically essential to a healthy tourist business is originality. Obviously in our new slogan we have just that. For who else can lay claim to Captain Discovery?

Tourists are practical people with extremely fertile minds. They crave the unique; the nostalgic; they revel in historical romanticism. Their imaginations are stirred and stimulated by red-blooded chivalrous phantoms, be they fact or myth.

Mr. Hawkins should be commended, not criticized, for his efforts, and for his new slogan that is both sound and refreshing.

FRANK E. LOCKERY, 867 Viewfield Road.

Shores of Gitche Gumee

Captain Discovery does exist and Vancouver Island is Treasure Island.

Ages ago, a legendary Indian God inhabited North America, his purpose was to make this a land of plenty for the redman, however, the coming of the white man disrupted his plans and laden with gifts he fled westward. On arrival at the Pacific shores his gaze reconnoitered the Gulf Islands Archipelago, a decision was made to settle on the larger of these Islands and in the process of crossing many of the gifts were spilled on the smaller Isles.

This man's name is Hiawatha whom we are now referring to as Captain Discovery and Vancouver Island "Treasure Island" is his home.

Proof of his existence is to be found in abundance, subdued elements, snow-caps with glaciers, lush valleys, mighty forests with giant timber, glistening waterways and lakes well stocked with the finest of fish, there is game aplenty, rich soil for vegetation, a land pregnant with minerals, the pesky mosquito a minimum, the striking snake a rarity, yes, these are the gifts that Hiawatha brought and is continually spreading them so lavishly on our land.

To our publicity commissioner William Hawkins I say it is doubtful that we will ever come face to face with either Captain Discovery or his descendants but the proof of his presence is too obvious to ignore.

RAY JOHNSON, 1214 Yates Street.

Death Penalty

I have been interested to read in recent news items, that the Lord High Chancellor, Viscount Kilmuir, attending the Commonwealth and Empire Law Conference, says that he still believes that fear of capital punishment made criminals think twice before attacking other tourist centres.

Lord Kilmuir speaks from a wealth of experience, having acted as a defence counsel for accused murderers, and as home secretary was head of Britain's police force for three years. Surely, therefore, he is in a much better position to judge this matter of vital importance, than a few M.P.'s who are not even lawyers.

JEFFREY BISHOP, Sooke, B.C.

Prepositionally Speaking

"Victorians will be able to watch a partial eclipse of the Sun Tuesday but they better be careful how they do it. . . . I quote from the first paragraph in 'Topics of the Day' (Times, Sept. 15, 1960).

When shall we be able to watch the sun Wednesday or are you referring to Man Friday? Sentences without prepositions do not make sense. Even the little word "on" has its uses.

I would suggest Victorians had better be careful how they do it. News paper editors should be careful too. Such poor English cannot be excused as journalistic style. It is simply bad grammar. Your newspaper is full of similar examples.

"THE CAPTAIN FROM KOEPENICK"

(Germany, 1958, Color)

This widely acclaimed recent German production is based on Hoffman's famous satire set in miniature. Prince von Hohenbalken, a swash-buckling young fellow who cannot get a pass, suddenly finds doors that were formerly closed to him wide open just because he puts on a captain's uniform that he finds in a trunk. Directed by Germany's famous comedienne, Helene Rhume, in the title role.

NEW YORK PREMIERE

Earful and Eyeful Mark Behan's Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Brenden Behan's play, "The Hostage," is sweet and tender and has a sledgehammer impact. As an evening's Court Theatre — entertainment, the Hostage is given the spectators quite an specialized in appeal, but will stir plenty of chatter.

The drama is profane, bawdy, irreverent. It also is Irishman Behan himself observed the premier quietly from a mezzanine seat, commented afterwards that the performance was good and the audience "took to it all right."

Set in present-day Dublin, the story concerns a young English soldier seized by Irish revolutionaries after one of their group has been condemned for murder.

Tension builds upon whether the innocent warrior will be slain in vengeance. But Behan simply uses that as a device for airing a free-wheeling array of jest, opinions and sardonic mockery in songs and dialogue.

Standouts in the company are Maxwell Show, Avis Bunnage, Glynn Edwards, Alfred Lynch and Celia Salkeld in the vital roles. They and the 12 other members of the cast waste not a gesture or movement in this vaudeville morality show.

LONGER HOURS SET FOR SHOW AT GALLERY

Owing to public demand, the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will remain open Friday and Saturday this week from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in addition to its regular extension of hours on Thursday.

It is estimated that more than 1,100 have visited the gallery since an exhibition of bird paintings opened four days ago. Works on view are by Victoria artist Fenwick Lansdowne and by Dutch and Flemish masters from Britain's National Loan Collection Trust.

The gallery is normally open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

PIRATE QUARTERS FLOODED

Deluge of more than 120,000 orders for World Series tickets struck Pittsburgh Pirates' front office this week. Flood of mail, shown being sorted by clerks, followed announcement Bucs were

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel will retire shortly after the World Series and Ralph Houk will succeed him as manager of the New York Yankees, United Press International has learned on the best possible authority.

Stengel made up his mind to quit at the end of this season, even before it started, and has spoken about it to this writer, off-handedly now and then during the past six weeks.

Casey's retirement has always been a sore point with him—and it is understandable for a man of 70 who has been in baseball 50 years—but he has faced up to the fact that it is far better to leave as a winner rather than a loser.

They've got a right to ask," he went on. "But I still feel it's my own business and I told 'em all I'd give 'em my answer in October. That's soon enough, isn't it?"

Only a few weeks back, however, I knew Stengel had decided to quit and told him so. He didn't deny it. Instead he said:

"Yeah, but it's my doing, not theirs."

By that he meant he's the one who is calling the shot—not the Yankees' front office.

"Hell, I've had five or six offers since I've been here," he said. He wasn't lying either.

There is no question, however, that he can get a job practically anywhere in baseball. But when he's through with the Yankees he'll be through, period.

OTHER CHOICES

Some speculation has arisen that he might be succeeded by either Al Lopez or Paul Richards.

But, that won't happen. Owner Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox happens to like Lopez and will bet all the oranges in Florida that he will be back managing Chicago next year. That's a safe bet. Lopez may manage the Yankees one day but it won't be in 1961.

As for Richards, he is about to sign a new three-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles, so that leaves him out, too.

The Yankees' front office has decided who will be Stengel's successor and his name is Houk, a man who proved his capabilities with Denver in the Yankee farm system, a man liked and respected by the Yankee players, and a man

SPEED, AGILITY ASSETS OF YAWATA RUGBY CLUB

The payoff could be on speed and agility at Royal Athletic Park tonight.

Those are two of the big assets of the Yawata rugby club of Japan, which opens a six-game Canadian tour.

Rated the top club team in Japan, the Yawata players are noted for superb conditioning and remarkable starting speed on their runs.

Victorians who toured Japan two years ago were also impressed by the elusiveness of the Japanese backs and their determined tackling.

It all adds up to a tough test for the Tide when the teams tangle under the lights at 7:30.

HUCUL RETIRING?

Sandy's Staying On Calgary Beat

From Times News Services

Prominent among the missing Sandy Hucul, a potent force in the Vancouver Canucks defense last season, is retiring. Both have been as from hockey because of his job, general manager Coley of the American League by the Hall said Tuesday.

Hucul joined the Calgary police force this summer and hasn't been able to get leave of absence to play with the Portland Buckaroos at Esquimalt, B.C.

Hucul, a former Cougars—centres Larry Leach and Gordie Haworth, Seattle Totems, who started training at Chilliwack at the weekend, are taking a good look at three players who were with Rossland Warriors in the Western International League, and Harvey Nash, a Kimberley native who played intermediate hockey last winter.

Former Warriors at the Totem camp are goalies Bruno Forlini, and wingers Primo Secco and Owen Mailey.

Twenty-two players are in Vancouver's camp and four more are due.

Elsewhere on the Western League front, coach Hal Laycoe, who will start work with the Portland Buckaroos at Esquimalt, B.C., next Monday, has announced the signing of two former Cougars—centres Larry Leach and Gordie Haworth, Seattle Totems, who started training at Chilliwack at the weekend, are taking a good look at three players who were with Rossland Warriors in the Western International League, and Harvey Nash, a Kimberley native who played intermediate hockey last winter.

'GO OUT AND BUY THEM'

Jerome Has Method For Getting Medals

VANCOUVER — "The only way Canada will ever get gold medals in Olympic competition is to buy them," Harry Jerome observed bluntly.

The 19-year-old North Vancouver sprint star made the semi-final of the 100 metres at the games, said in an interview Tuesday following his return from Europe, where he competed unshackled for its outstanding athletes.

"Canada has to make track and field a business," he said. "Just like football, but on an amateur basis, of course. Look at the Europeans for Rome. . . . Sure, they compete in local meets. But who do they compete against? Just each other."

He said Canadian teams picked for international competition also should train together at home for a week or so.

"Canada could also hold all her trials in one city," he added. "That way all the athletes chosen would get to know each other. Shucks, I met half the members of the team on the plane."

Jerome, who is co-holder of the world record of 10 seconds for the 100 metres with Olympic champion Armin-Hary of Germany, was asked about charges by members of the press and Canadian officials that he "quit" during his 100 metres semifinal at Rome.

"Well, let's put it this way," he said. "I could have finished. But I would have had to crawl on my hands and knees to do it."

MUSCLE SPASM

The injury that crippled Jerome was diagnosed as a muscle spasm, caused by the tightening of muscle tissue around the bone on his right leg. Jerome said Canadian team trainer Charlie Godfrey didn't treat it properly.

He said Godfrey applied heat and massage to the hurt but both the German trainer and an English doctor who looked at it later indicated that was the worst thing that could have been done.

"I was told by both that I should have had ice packs put on it right on the spot," Jerome said. "But I guess that's understandable. Canada never has had a good trainer to accompany the team international meets."

"Canada should send a good trainer as well as a doctor to the meets."

ALONG FOR RIDE

He said some of the Canadian officials accompanying the team were "real nice and helpful" but others "just went along for the ride" and made it tough on the team.

Jerome confirmed reports out of Rome that he didn't get along with track coach Harold Brown of Toronto.

"Brown's not my type of coach," he said. "He did nothing whatever for my track attitude. Mind you, Brown's a nice guy. It's just that our personalities are different."

In Toronto, Brown said he thought Jerome and Godfrey had been close friends.

"Godfrey spent most of his time with Jerome and Harry went out and bought him a small gift in appreciation," Brown said.

As for Jerome's remark that a doctor should accompany the team, Brown said, "Only a few countries could afford the luxury of a doctor who is skilled in handling athletes in particular."

CANADIANS WON'T PLAY IN WORLD CUP SOCCER

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver newspaper says Canada is definitely out of the World Cup soccer tournament.

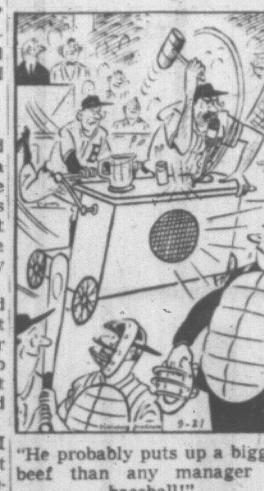

The newspaper says that was the word received here Tuesday from officials of the Canadian Soccer Football Association accompanying a Canadian team on a four-game tour of Russia.

"Canadian officials apparently failed to get the schedule of preliminary games against Mexico and the United States changed and decided the present schedule was too inconvenient and too demanding to be practical," says the newspaper.

Promoter Rod Fenton plans to stage his next local mat card on Oct. 4, with Whipper Billy Watson and Gene Kinski clashing in the top bout.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

In there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or an interesting prize? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammon Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Eddie Wallace, aged 11, of Mt. Holly, N.C., for his question:

What Is a Venus' Flytrap?

The story of the flycatching is heart-shaped, with a fringe of spikes around its outer rim. The centre vein of this section is a very heavy ridge. This is the hinge which can open and close the two halves of the heart-shaped leaf.

On the face of the hinged section there are six sensitive hairs. Three form a triangle on each of the lobes. These hairs grow from glands which give off a sticky, glistening fluid. When the plant grows in the shade, these glistening hairs are green. When it grows in bright sunlight, they glisten with crimson.

A passing fly is interested in these bright, dewy hairs and zooms in to investigate. He lands on the heart-shaped leaf and the sensitive hairs respond to his light weight. Before he knows it, the hinge down the centre of the leaf snaps shut and the curious fly is a prisoner. The spikes around the rim of the leaf interlock to form a barred prison door.

KEY RESEARCHER

Farm Head Ends Career Of 35 Years

Thirty-five years of research work for the federal agricultural department will end next week for John Jex Woods, 703 Ardmore, superintendent of the Saanichton Dominion-Experimental Farm.

Mr. Woods is retiring from government service next Tuesday after serving since 1941 as superintendent of the farm.

A key figure in promoting a series of horticultural research projects ranging from weed control to fruit trees, he also has taken an active interest in the culture of ornamental shrubs and trees—an important industry of Vancouver Island.

IN CHARGE OF RESEARCH

In the early twenties he carried out research projects in the Okanagan and for a time was superintendent of the Agassiz Experimental farm.

Since April of this year he has been in charge of amalgamating the science services of the experimental station, such as the plant pathological and entomological branches, in accordance with a department of agriculture reorganization program.

Born in Vancouver, Mr. Woods served with the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders overseas in the First World War. He graduated from the University of British Columbia in horticulture in 1923.

The 65-year-old horticulturist plans on retiring to write a history of agricultural development in B.C. and to continue experiments with plants.

It suggested that the chief

Growers Rushed By Apple 'Drop'

(Times News Services)

KELOWNA—Growers were rushing Tuesday to get remaining apples off their trees because of a sudden "drop" of the McIntosh crop.

Effects of the drop on apple production will not be known until the entire crop is in, said Harry Van Ackeren of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited. This would take from four to five days.

"Drop" is the term used to describe a weather-caused falling of apples from the trees before they can be picked. It has been affecting McIntoshes for the last three or four days throughout the Okanagan.

One packing-house reported receiving 25,000 boxes Monday as growers speeded up their picking.

RECOVER BODY

KAMLOOPS—Police have recovered the body of Mrs. Eileen Volinger, who drowned in the North Thompson river following a car accident a month ago. The body of her husband was recovered at the time of the accident. Both were from Long Beach, Calif.

PRISONER ESCAPES

DAWSON CREEK—Fifteen men of the 21-man Dawson Creek RCMP detachment were enlisted Tuesday in the search for a man who fled from custody without his shoes.

Robert Miley, 35, alias Jay Burnett, escaped early Tuesday by crawling through a hot-air duct in a woman's cell to which he had been transferred after complaining of stomach pains.

JEWELRY STOLEN

VERNON—Rings valued at $750 were stolen from William Arnott's Credit Jewellers here Monday in a smash and grab raid.

HUNTERS MISSING

VERNON—Searches are underway for three local residents who went missing on weekend hunting trips.

Ben Dubcek, who went hunting on Silver Star Mountain, was due back Sunday night and two youths, Bill Fallow and Steve Papenpus, were due back in the afternoon.

PAIR SURVIVE AIR CRASH IN FAR NORTH

WINNIPEG (CP)—The task of Canadian armed forces for capital punishment and therapeutic approach to persons convicted of murder were advocated Tuesday by United Nations police force.

The church, which believes that capital punishment is contrary to the teaching of Christ, said it has been proved that many murderers respond to rehabilitative treatment under parole conditions.

The church's general council took its traditional stand on alcoholic beverages—total voluntary abstinence is the wisest course. It issued that call to Christians 14 years ago.

A commission which studied the alcohol issue for four years said there is support in the Bible for those who abstain and those who practice temperance use.

"We contend that as most serious offences are symptomatic of social or psychological aberrations, the treatment of the offender should be determined by a diagnostic investigation which should be an integral part of a treatment process commencing before trial and ending with the ultimate emancipation of the offender for his criminality."

INDEFINITE JAIL TERM

The church recommended to the federal government that no person convicted of a capital offence be released from a correction institution as long as his retention is essential to the well-being of society and to his reformation.

It suggested that the National Parole Board be given the necessary powers to set the length and nature of treatment given persons convicted under such a system.

General council also dealt with reports on international affairs and alcoholic beverages.

The policy-making body of the church urged the Canadian government to continue its work toward an international ban on nuclear weapons tests.

It suggested that the chief

WINNIPEG (CP)—The occu-

pan of a civilian aircraft which overturned Saturday while on a 215-mile flight from Fort Simpson, N.W.T., to Fort Nelson, B.C., have been picked up and taken to Fort Simpson, a RCAF spokesman said here.

The two men, pilot Danny

Yaeger and Joe Wagar, of Hillies, Alta., were spotted earlier Tuesday about 18 miles from Fort Simpson. They were walking towards the settlement, 700 miles northwest of Edmonton. A pontoonequipped aircraft rescued the two men.

Yaeger and another passenger were rescued a year ago

after spending eight days in the same area after crashing on a similar flight.

Smallwood Seizes Historical Items

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said Tuesday night he has ordered the National Museum at Ottawa to hand over about 40 historical items it had collected in Newfoundland.

Mr. Smallwood declined to list exactly what items were involved but said many of them dealt with the early New foundland cod fishery.

He said he seized the items

under a 1955 Newfoundland law which says items of historical interest to the province

must remain in Newfoundland.

Mr. Smallwood was commenting on an Ottawa report

"quite right."

The premier said he understood the museum had spent $1,200 on its Newfoundland explorations. The Newfoundland government was willing to pay back this sum, but it wanted to keep the items.

A spokesman for the museum in Ottawa said "we are not going to argue about it."

Service clubs, schools, industrial firms and other groups interested in booking the film are asked to contact Red Cross president Mrs. W. Bulcock at Duncan.

DUNCAN—"This is a money-making racket," Eric Erickson, Duncan, was quoted by police as saying to RCMP constable who stopped him Sept. 7 at a radar check.

Erickson was stopped on the Cowichan Lake Road for speeding at 52 mph in a 40-mph zone. Magistrate A. C. Sutton fined him $35 and $5 costs in police court Monday and warned him about his conduct with police officers.

Scientist Identifies Seed Types

A quick, easy method for distinguishing between seed taken from coast and interior Douglas fir trees has been developed by Dean George S. Allen, head of the faculty of forestry at the University of British Columbia.

The problem of distinguishing between the two types of seed has been an annoying one which has cost companies in Canada and overseas many thousands of dollars in the past, according to Dean Allen.

Losses from planting unsuitable seed can be enormous since little or no crop would result at the end of 50 or 100 years.

Dean Allen took seed from both coastal and interior areas and began noting distinguishing physical characteristics under a low power microscope, such as differences in seed tips, body shapes, contours and textures as well as some variations in color.

Dean Allen says tests can be made in a few minutes on a small sample although a large order would have to be thoroughly sampled. Dean Allen will supply both black and white and color prints to anyone who wishes to use them as guides in carrying out their own tests.

PORTION OF ESQUIMALT HARBOR seen above is site of proposed log-booming ground. Permit has been applied for and residents of View Royal, along far shore, are trying to keep it clear. They claim

SPINE CHECK NEXT WEEK IN SCHOOLS

Victoria school children once again will be eligible for free spinal examinations this year from Monday through Saturday next week.

The scheme is sponsored by the Chiropractors' Association of B.C. and any child from nursery school through high school in the province, will be examined at no charge.

All children will be given a card to take home to their parents detailing the results of the examination.

Last year 3,350 children in B.C. took up the offer. Only 17 per cent of them were completely free of spinal misalignment.

Log Boom Complaints Force Public Hearing

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston today ordered a public hearing into complaints about a proposed log booming ground in Esquimalt Harbour.

The move followed a series of protests by View Royal residents.

Greater Victoria Mill Owners' Association advertised in April that it was seeking a provincial lease to set up the ground on 21 acres near Cole Island at the north end of the harbour.

"We received no objections for four and a half months," said a lands official today.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Final match in Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's teams-of-four tournament Tuesday resulted in Ethel Cleworth, W. Simpson Baikie, Jack Goldie and Larry McMillan beating Gwen Brawn Douglas Hawkes, Harry Brawn and George Morgan by 39 international match points.

Winners of the Howell match were: First, Ida Druce and Bud Waddington; second, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Duprav; third, Eric Goodwin and W. Brownie-Cave; fourth, Alma Halliday and Frederick Halkett; fifth, Liliane Le Butt and Evelyn Lamont, and sixth, Joe Lukas and Jack Patterson.

Charged with theft of a transistor radio owned by Quadra Appliance Service, 3514 Quadra, Steve Remington and Donald William Thomson, of no fixed address, were remanded in Saanich police court today until Thursday for plea. The radio was valued at over $50.

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will start the 11th year of its recorded concerts with a meeting at 12:30 p.m. Friday.

The public is invited to attend the concert, which will include a Russian recording of Beethoven's violin concerto and two concertos grossi by Handel.

Since their inception, the concerts have been directed by Mrs. W. G. Humphries.

A bright meteor whizzed through the sky over the Pacific Northwest Tuesday evening, trailing sparks until it apparently burned itself out.

It was reported seen in many sections although no official sightings were reported by astronomers here.

The meteor — commonly called a fireball when it begins to burn up as it enters the earth's atmosphere — was travelling in a northerly direction, most reports said, although some had it moving from west to east. It was seen just after 8 p.m.

New registrations of motor vehicles continued to decline in B.C. during August.

New cars registered totaled 2,687, against 3,103 in August of 1959, the Motor Vehicles Branch reported today.

Used car registrations, however, showed a rise from 918 in August last year to 1,072 this year.

Total number of vehicles licensed on the road is 529,036.

Sales trends are reflected in the overall figure of new registrations for the first eight months of the year. New private cars total $9,446 against 21,816 last year.

Gaglardi's Gags Galore Hit National TV Program

"Flying Phil" Gaglardi is taking more to the air because there's no RCMP up there," he told a nation-wide television audience on the CBC program "Front Page Challenge" Tuesday night.

Kidded by panelist Gordon Sinclair about his speeding fines, the fast-talking B.C. highways minister said:

"I keep the RCMP in business." He had transgressed, he added, in a Ford, a Buick and an Oldsmobile.

"Spoken like a true politician," quipped Sinclair.

Panelist Pierre Berton, an old friend of Gaglardi, attempted to pin the minister down on the monetary theories of Social Credit, which he said "seemed to be fading out."

THE DIFFERENCE

"Would you define them for me?" Berton asked. "How do they differ from orthodox beliefs?"

"As simply as I can state it," Gaglardi replied, "we believe

'DISCOVER DISCOVERY' CAMPAIGN ON

The search for evidence of Captain Discovery will continue until something "concrete" is found, tourist commissioner William Hawkins said today.

Mr. Hawkins is determined to justify his choice of Captain Discovery as the symbol of Vancouver Island's new "Treasure Island" slogan.

The fact that the gallant captain has already aroused so much interest, both here and on the mainland, proves that he is a solid figure," the commissioner said.

Victoria Y's Men's Club will hold a service this Thursday in an attempt to get a "message" from Captain Discovery.

It will be held in the YMCA board room, 1203 Blanshard, "soon after dusk."

"We expect some high jinks," one member said.

Gaglardi's Gags Galore Hit National TV Program

"Are you working when you're sitting in a movie theatre?"

Sinclair followed up with:

"You deliver sermons every Sunday and dash all around the country in fast cars and planes. You seem to be a pretty hard worker yourself."

IDEAL FOR SPEED

"You bet I am," grinned Gaglardi. "Those 4,000 miles of bad-top make B.C.'s highways ideal for speeding."

At the conclusion of the interview moderator Fred Davis asked Mr. Gaglardi for appearing.

"It's an honor, sir," said the minister, with a broad grin.

that money should be the servant of the people and not the boss."

"What about that $25 a month plan of Aberhart's?" Berton persisted. "What happened to that?"

"As far as I can determine, Aberhart never made such a promise," the minister replied. "It was newspaper talk—and you're much more of an expert on that than I am."

Queried on the matter of Sunday movies, Mr. Gaglardi said he was against them.

"The Lord said, 'On the seventh day, ye shall rest.'

Actor Austin Willis interjected:

"It's an honor, sir," said the minister, with a broad grin.

Absentee Vote Tally To Be Made Monday

Fisgard Light, Fort Rodd Hill 'Battle' Won

Two Finally Made Historic Sites

After years of campaigning by local enthusiasts two famous Victoria landmarks — Fisgard Lighthouse and Fort Rodd Hill — are to be developed into national historic sites.

This was confirmed today by an official of the federal transport department here.

First step towards conversion is the transfer of Fisgard Lighthouse and Fort Rodd Hill from the transport and defence departments respectively to the northern affairs and natural resources department.

This is being done, the official said.

No indication has been given as to when the work of converting the sites will begin.

EARLY DEVELOPMENT

"We hope it will be soon," said Sam Lane, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist commission.

"It is the best thing that could happen."

"The need for such attractions is right now," said Sam Lane, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist commission.

"The conversion could be an important part of the winter work campaign in this area."

Fisgard Lighthouse, at the entrance to Esquimalt Harbour, was British Columbia's first lighthouse, completed just over 100 years ago.

The old light tower and keeper's house still stands, but the light has long been out and the lightkeeper's house deserted.

The lighthouse was nearly destroyed by fire in August, 1957. But the flames were put out before they reached the tower and only the roof of the house and some of the interior woodwork suffered.

Fort Rodd Hill is connected by a causeway to the lighthouse. Overlooking Royal Roads and Esquimalt Harbour, it is the home of the 5th Regiment and former members of the regiment worked for two years to have it preserved and restored.

$19,000 ALREADY IN 'KITTY' AS CHEST AWAITS MAIN DRIVE

Already nearly $19,000 has been collected towards Victoria Community Chest Campaign's goal of $350,000 this year and the campaign hasn't officially started yet!

Most of the money has been raised during a pilot campaign in 22 local firms conducted by members of the Chartered Life Underwriters' Association. Five of these firms are "over the top" in giving their "fair share."

The main campaign starts with a mammoth rally in the Odeon Theatre, 9 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 2. The rally will feature the Victoria premiere of "Make Mine Mink," courtesy of the J. Arthur Rank Organization.

3 Seats Decision Awaited

By FRANK RUTTER

Electoral officials expect "a very heavy" absentee vote to be counted Monday when the final makeup of B.C.'s new legislature will be decided.

Three ridings could change hands in the final count to be made on all 52 seats.

The CCF is chasing the Social Credit government in Nanaimo, Comox and Yale.

All the other seats were pretty firmly decided at first count polling day, Sept. 12.

Present standing is Social Credit 32, CCF 16, Liberal four.

HEAVY VOTE

"We understand from reports that there was a very heavy absentee vote in most districts," said an official of the electoral office today.

He said the final count has been put back to Monday, Sept. 26 from Saturday.

Under the Elections Act the count must be held 12 days after polling day.

Legal advisers said the official, determined that 12 days was one minute after midnight Saturday. Sunday is a holiday, so the count is Monday.

Nanaimo and Comox will be decided mainly by fishermen and loggers who were unable to cast ballots at their home polling districts, Sept. 12.

Some 500 votes are expected in Nanaimo, where Recreation Minister Earle Westwood is 112 votes ahead of CCFer Colin Cameron.

More than 1,000 votes are anticipated in Comox, where Dan Campbell has a lead of 116 over Fred Wood of the CCF.

STRACHAN HOPES

CCF Leader Robert Strachan has his hopes pinned highest on Comox, where heavy percentage of votes in logging communities went to Wood at the regular polls.

He is also optimistic about the CCF chances in Yale, where Sacred Heart Corbett is 37 votes ahead of CCFer Evan McDougall, who is a logger.

If the final count in any of these ridings is any closer, then a recount is almost certain.

302 GROUPS

UBC Brings Seminars To Homes

More than 3,000 persons in communities large and small throughout B.C. will be attending university in their living rooms this fall and winter.

It's largely a case of the mountain coming to Mohamed.

People thirsting for knowledge can enrol in a unique study-discussion program entitled "Living Room Learning" administered by the extension department of UBC.

The program, which began three years ago, has proved one of the most successful ever undertaken by the university's extension department. A total of 302 groups are now in operation.

THROUGHOUT B.C.

At present there are six in Victoria, five in the Powell River area, seven in New Westminster, 21 in the Kootenays and 34 in Greater Vancouver.

List of topics from which groups can choose includes world politics, Russian foreign policy, Canada and world affairs, looking at modern painting and a new course, parenting in a free nation.

Further details can be obtained from the UBC extension department.

New Table Padding Yardage Useful for Many Purposes

By PENNY SAVER

Versatile newcomer to one downtown store is table padding material which can be bought by the yard and cut to fit any size table. A mixture of plastic and foam rubber, it won't mar finish of highly-polished furniture, has heat-proof insulation and will not slide or slip. Padding will remain flat and is perfect for forming base of elegant table settings.

It can also be used to line drawers, cover bottoms of play pens, form bed pads, shelving, or be used as bases for lamps and vases. Throw on the floor, it will form adequate protection for the baby in the family.

Coming in 48-inch width, padding sells at $4.98 a yard.

Many housewives have turned from conventional plastic tablecloth to plastic ones that are backed in flannel. Advantages of these include more flexibility, durability and fact that they can be laundered in a washing machine.

Now this material can be bought by the yard. New shipment I saw this week had attractive patterns of fall leaves or blocked floral designs. One colorful selection was covered with large carnations, either in red or green. Looking deceptively like damask was a plain white material, embossed with flowers.

All were in 54-inch width and sold at $1.79 a yard. Another, priced at $2.19 a yard, was in deep emerald green, with an embossed design of anemones.

Gloves must take quite a beating when used for driving or on regular rounds of golf. If you find that your gloves complain about the hard life you give them, try some of the pigskin gloves that are imported from England. Looking exactly like pigskin, they have the added advantage of being washable. Gloves come in shades of tan, bone or black and sell at $3.95 a pair.

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

and casual wear were shown. Topping the list was the knitted look. Fitted knit slacks topped with matching fleece-lined jackets were in tones of burnished golds, warm greens and browns.

Coats were high style with touches of fur at collars and cuffs and featuring the very new telescope sleeves. Relaxed silhouette was a feature of the suits, also trimmed with fur.

High chapeaux in matching fabrics and furs were worn with the ensembles.

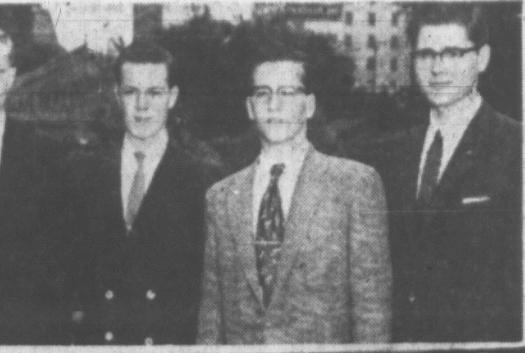

Blanket check dresses in the warm hues of autumn were shown. Dropped waistlines were prominent, as were rounded necklines, full wide box-pleated skirts and fitted torso lines.

Highlight of the show was the modelling of feminine, couturier ball gowns for the coming social season.

One from the House of Dior, was in bubbling champagne tone with a bolero bodice of heavy jewelled sequins and gold pieces held by tiny, narrow straps. Graceful skirt had the relaxed look sweeping to floor length.

Traditional strapless gown in delusted satin was also shown. In pale ice green, the dress featured a panel of sparkling crystal and sequin embroidery extending from the neckline to hem. A frosty floor-length white gown in simple lines was modelled for the junior miss. Cuffed bodice had an insert of dazzling jewels held by shoe-string straps.

Show, which is held in Gibson's Ladies' Wear on View Street, will continue this evening, commencing at 8.15.

National Chapter bursaries of $1,600 each will also be presented, one to Miss Susan McPherson, Oak Bay High, and the other Jack McLaren, Victoria High. Both students are now attending Victoria University. Provincial educational secretary of the IODE, Mrs. Charles Stewart will make these presentations.

TWO ANCIENT stone carvings she dug up in her rose garden are shown Provincial Museum anthropologist Wilson Duff by Mrs. F. L. Alexander.

Ancient Indian Stone Figures Unearthed in Rose Garden Here

An archaeological discovery of major importance was made in Victoria last week when Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Alexander, 28th Inlet, found two Indian stone figures buried in their rose garden.

The two sculptures, each depicting a human figure sitting upright and holding a bowl in its lap, are believed to be between 200 and 1,000 years old.

Wilson Duff, provincial anthropologist, said the figures probably were used for "magical" rites by an Indian sect which has passed out of existence.

Needed Money To Keep Wife, Girl Friend

BERLIN (Reuters)—A U.S. army sergeant was jailed for 10 years Tuesday after he said he gave military information to Communist agents because he needed money to cover expenses of keeping an American wife and a German girl friend.

Sgt. Leroy Mast, 29, was honorably discharged by a United States court martial and sentenced to 10 years at hard labor.

Mast blamed his estranged wife, Mary, of Aberdeen, Md., for "extreme financial irresponsibility" and said he also needed money to support his girl friend, to whom he gave the documents.

Mrs. Alexander was thrilled with the find.

"We were digging in the rose garden when we hit something hard," she said. "We found the figures lying close to the surface in the ashes of a fire."

Mrs. Alexander has loaned the figures to the provincial museum for study and has promised that they eventually will be turned over to the museum permanently.

The figures are 15 and nine inches high.

Mr. Duff believes the carvings came originally from the Fraser Valley.

About 50 similar figures have been found in the Fraser Canyon, between Yale and Lytton, which is the source of the soapstone boulders from which most of them were carved.

The largest figure found by the Alexanders is the most interesting. It is in almost perfect condition. It has a rattlesnake motif—a feature Mr. Duff finds interesting.

He pointed out that rattlesnakes are unknown here but are found in the dry interior east of the Fraser River. This would infer that the figure was carved in the upper Fraser and later traded to some Indian doctor from the Victoria area.

This figure, he said, has also a strange animal on the front which cannot be identified.

Probably—but you don't have to suffer heartburn or acid indigestion! Not when you keep TUMS handy. Just eat one or two of these mild, minty tablets—no water or glass needed—and get fast relief from stomach discomfort. No after-taste with TUMS. Take TUMS any time, any place. Carry a roll in your purse or pocket. And TUMS cost so little.

SUN SPOT SEEN TOO

Partial Eclipse Visible

A clear view of the partial eclipse. It appeared as a dark spot on the sun's surface, and was several times larger than the sun's diameter, he said.

Astronomers took a break from their regular work to watch the moon pass in front of the sun between 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, observatory director, said the sky darkened slightly during the eclipse but was hardly noticeable to the eye.

In addition to the eclipse, it was possible to see a sunspot.

Moratorium Bid Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — G.O.P. presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon plugged today for a campaign moratorium on criticism of U.S. strength and prestige lest communist leaders attending the UN think America is weak and divided.

But his democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, flatly rejected the proposal as "wrong and dangerous." Kennedy renewed his attack on what he considered U.S. setbacks and on any attempt merely to "out-talk or out-shout" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Nixon repeatedly stated Tuesday he and Kennedy had a "special responsibility" to avoid any charges that might disparage America.

Kennedy replied in a nationwide TV speech, "I say it is wrong and dangerous for any American to keep silent about our future if he is not satisfied with what is being done to preserve that future."

intimated the area of parking restriction might be enlarged. There are about 30 cars among the school's 892 pupils.

We have just as much right to park our cars anywhere as has anyone," said Scotty McNeill, Cadboro Bay.

"We pay licence fees, don't we?" said the 16-year-old grade 12 student.

LONG WAY TO GO

"The way things look, it seems they want to stop us parking on Cadboro Bay Road also."

"Sure I could catch a bus," said the young driver, "but it means getting up earlier. I'm a fair distance out. Then there is a lot of trouble carrying books on buses."

Most of the students' cars are parked on Cadboro Bay Road on both sides of Eastdowne.

Keith Hamilton, 2650 Beach Drive and a grade 11 pupil, said: "I don't see what's wrong with parking here. We don't cause any trouble. Complaints probably come from the odd hot-rodder squirrel around."

INCONVENIENT

Gordon Archer, 1704 Knight Avenue, said it was "darned inconvenient to have to park a considerable distance from the school."

"I think we should be allowed to park close. And there's no reason we shouldn't have a parking lot on the grounds."

Mrs. M. M. Hicks, 2225 Cadboro Bay Road, said she had no complaints against youths parking in front of her house, "except we can't park ourselves. Luckily we have a driveway."

Drivers were quiet and well-mannered, she said.

'Racial Threats'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Three African students have sent an open letter to the heads of all African governments charging "constant racial discrimination and threats" while they were studying at Moscow University.

Announcing their intention to "expose Soviet colonialism" before Premier Nikita Khrushchev addresses the United Nations, the three told a news conference in Frankfurt today that they and scores of other African students are leaving Moscow disgusted at Communist pressure.

EATON'S Opens New Vistas for Fall

Men's Fashions With a Gentlemanly

Dash of Olive

Colour plays an important role in the trends that mark the season in men's wear. Especially evident is Olive, which, as a man's colour, has been gaining stature over several seasons and comes into its own in a most striking and handsome way this Fall. The "town look" is conservative but bright, as suits lighten up with fresh Olive accents and accessories reflect soft colours. For country and spectator sports, where the look is carefully casual and more rugged, styling is simpler, and rougher fabrics take over, showing Olive in tweeds and overplaids, and teamed often with gold-colour or grape. Blending with and brightening Fall 1960 is Olive ... the shade well-dressed men are wearing.

Style and Colour in Hats

Completing your handsome wardrobe for Fall is a smart hat in the style and shade you prefer. See in Cortina, Monte Carlo or other styles in black, walrus, olive, slate blue, or glacier blue fur fells. Sizes 6 1/2 to 7 1/2. Each

RECORD FOR AUGUST

Unemployed Hit 322,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Canada, rising during August for the second month in a row, totalled 322,000 on Aug. 20—up 83,000 from a year earlier—an official report showed today.

The figure was a post-war record for August, exceeding the 281,000 unemployment figure for mid-August, 1958.

The 322,000 total, estimated by the bureau of statistics as "without jobs and seeking work," was 11,000 higher than mid-July's 311,000 unemployed. The same increase in jobless rolls occurred in the previous month.

A joint report by the bureau and the labor department said almost all of the latest increase was in Ontario, largely resulting from auto plant shutdowns.

The rise in unemployment—unusual since jobless figures usually level off during summer months—pushed unemployment to 4.9 per cent of the 6,623,000 member labor force. This compares with 3.7 per cent unemployment a year earlier and 4.7 per cent in mid-July.

MORE HOLDING JOBS

The bureau's estimates, based on its monthly labor force survey of 35,000 households, showed an increase in the numbers of persons with jobs—up 20,000 from mid-July to 6,301,000 at Aug. 20. This was 115,000 more than a year earlier.

But this gain in employment was outpaced by the expansion of the labor force, which rose by an estimated 3,000 in the month and by 198,000 from a year earlier.

All of the gain in employment from July was among women. At Aug. 20 there were 33,000 more women with jobs than a month earlier, but 13,000 fewer men.

FEWER REGISTERED

The joint report also showed 363,948 persons were registered for jobs at National Employment Service offices on Aug. 18. This represented a decline of 9,716 from the previous month but was 85,015 higher than a year earlier.

Regional figures of job registrations with the National Employment Service, with bracketed figures for mid-July, 1960, and mid-August, 1959, respectively included British Columbia 44,848 (46,301-34,640).

'Plot' on Khrushchev's Life Labelled Soviet Propaganda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—New African countries at the United Nations indicated today they will try to steer an independent course in the cold war.

Making their maiden speeches before the 96-member General Assembly, African representatives expressed gratitude for their admittance to the UN Tuesday and also spoke of their admiration for France. Most of them recently won independence within the French community.

Charles Okala of Cameroon, rejecting the idea of involvement in the global power struggle between the Soviet Union and the United States, said "ideological colonization" was as bad as the other kind of "colonization."

The speeches by the African countries and also Cyprus, another new member, delayed until late today election of chairmen of the seven principal committees.

REER CHINA

These, together with the assembly's 13 vice-presidents, constitute a steering committee which then is scheduled to consider whether to include on the assembly agenda such ticklish items as Russia's demand for the admission of Red China, the Algerian war and South African apartheid.

The Red China question was expected to be considered this afternoon.

(Canada is expected to receive a vice-presidency, a position which goes to countries rather than to individuals.)

The Soviet Union is carrying the brunt of the campaign this year to get Red China in. India has done it in past years—and there was a possibility Nikita Khrushchev would present the case himself.

It was considered more likely, however, that he would leave this to his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, and save himself for his major address to the assembly scheduled officially for Friday.

The anti-Communist 15-member college of high commissioners, appointed Tuesday and headed by Justin Bombo, took over the main administration building under protection of a platoon of infantrymen and an armored car.

CLOSE MINISTRIES

In rapid succession, they closed the ministries of information and justice, and took over the national radio station. The moves were carried out peacefully. They told civil servants to return to work this afternoon, but advised political appointees to stay away.

At the radio station, military police first let the commissioners in, then hustled them out again at gun point. A commissioner telephoned Mobutu, who then told the military police to allow the commissioners to take possession.

A UN spokesman reported that secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold delivered a "very sharp" protest to Katanga President-premier Moise Tshombe over the massacre of 68 persons by Tshombe's gendarmes in the town of Luena.

SPINE CHECK NEXT WEEK IN SCHOOLS

Victoria school children once again will be eligible for free spinal examinations this year from Monday through Saturday next week.

The scheme is sponsored by the Chiropractors' Association of B.C. and any child from nursery-school through high school in the province, will be examined at no charge.

All children will be given a card to take home to their parents detailing the results of the examination.

Last year 3,350 children in B.C. took up the offer. Only 17 per cent of them were completely free of spinal misalignment.

Log Boom Complaints Force Public Hearing

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston today ordered a public hearing into complaints about a proposed log booming ground in Esquimalt Harbour.

The move followed a series of protests by View Royal residents of their harbor.

Greater Victoria Mill Owners' Association advertised in April that it was seeking a provincial lease to set up the ground on 21 acres near Cole Island at the north end of the harbor.

"We received no objections for four and a half months," said a lands official today.

However, there have been several individual inquiries during the past few days, he said.

The residents along the shoreline in the area are protesting the booms will ruin their harbor.

MET SUPERINTENDENT

R. W. Howard, of 2 Price Street, today saw lands superintendent Thomas Hyslop.

After their meeting, Mr. Hyslop said he has received instructions from Mr. Williston to set up the hearing.

Time and place will be decided soon, he said.

Public notice will be posted.

Mr. Howard said most of the residents concerned own boats. Many of them are keen water-skiers and swimmers.

"If they put logs in it will ruin the entire deal," he said.

Other residents complained that their property values would decline, that the harbor would be cluttered up with evil-smelling rotting bark, and that the view would be spoiled.

The mill association, comprising seven local firms, placed a legal advertisement in the newspaper.

of its intention in Victoria papers April 7.

It ran four times, once a week, as stipulated in the Lands Act.

Some residents of View Royal complained they hadn't seen the ad and that it was too small.

However, it was pointed out that cost of running the ad four times exceeds the annual rental which would be charged by the province for a lease on the 21 acres in question.

Time and place will be decided soon, he said.

Fisgard Light, Fort Rodd Hill 'Battle' Won

Two Finally Made Historic Sites

After years of campaigning by local enthusiasts two famous Victoria landmarks — Fisgard Lighthouse and Fort Rodd Hill — are to be developed into national historic sites.

This was confirmed today by an official of the federal transport department.

First step towards conversion is the transfer of Fisgard Lighthouse and Fort Rodd Hill from the transport and defence departments respectively to the northern affairs and natural resources department.

This is being done, the official said.

No indicator has been given as to when the work of converting the sites will begin.

EARLY DEVELOPMENT

"We hope it will be soon," said Victoria tourist commissioner William Hawkins. "It is the best thing that could happen."

"The need for such attractions is right now," said Sam Lane, chairman of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group.

"The conversion could be an important part of the winter work campaign in this area."

Fisgard Lighthouse, at the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor, was British Columbia's first lighthouse, completed just over 100 years ago.

The old light tower and keeper's house still stands, but the light has long been out and the lightkeeper's house deserted.

The lighthouse was nearly destroyed by fire in August, 1857. But the flames were put out before they reached the tower and only the roof of the house and some of the interior woodwork suffered.

Fort Rodd Hill is connected by a causeway to the lighthouse. Overlooking Royal Roads and Esquimalt Harbor, it is the home of the 5th Regiment and former members of the regiment worked for two years to have it preserved and restored.

Other Vancouver Island winners are Arthur Roland Stanley-Jones, Duncan, $100, and Raymond Edwin Peters, Duncan, $300.

Altogether 16 students from UBC won a total of $1,800 in bursaries.

City Tourist Traffic 25 Per Cent Higher

An increase of 20 or 25 per cent in tourist traffic to Victoria during the past summer was estimated today by W. Allan Pendray, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

In his report to the annual meeting at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Pendray said final figures for the summer season are not yet available, but the increase could well be 20 or 25 per cent.

"When you consider that estimates of the annual value of the tourist trade to Victoria are around $10,000,000, the importance of this year's increase becomes readily apparent."

CHANCE TO EXPAND

Mr. Pendray said there is a unique opportunity for further expansion in a relatively short period of time.

"Vancouver Island can be further developed as a vacationland Unlimited. But sound planning and building are required, as is the closest cooperation among all concerned."

Mr. Pendray said the new B.C. government ferries have largely contributed to the tourist increase and have dispelled the fear among mainland travellers that they might be "stranded" on Vancouver Island.

They had also served to "complement" the older established ferry routes.

The president recalled that in 1953 a small Chamber committee recommended that Victoria should have a "multi-trip daily service with modern car ferries" between the north end of Saanich Peninsula and a mainland point close to Point Roberts.

The members of that far-sighted committee included T. G. Denny, J. R. Genge, Stuart Keate (publisher of the Victoria Times), Hugh Stephen and F. W. Hawes.

"You bet I am," grinned Gagliardi. "Those 4,000 miles of black-top make B.C.'s highways ideal for speed."

At the conclusion of the interview moderator Fred Davis thanked Mr. Gagliardi for appearing.

"It's an honor, sir," said the minister, with a broad grin.

"Spoken like a true politician," quipped Sinclair.

Panelist Pierre Berton, an old friend of Gagliardi, attempted to pin the minister down on the monetary theories of Social Credit, which he said "seemed to be fading out."

IDEAL FOR SPEED

"What about that $25 a month plan of Aberhart's?" Berton persisted. "What happened to that?"

"As far as I can determine, Aberhart never made such a promise," the minister replied.

"It was newspaper talk — and you're much more of an expert on that than I am."

Queried on the matter of Sunday movies, Mr. Gagliardi said he was against them.

"The Lord said, 'On the seventh day, ye shall rest.'

Actor Austin Willis interjected:

3 Seats Decision Awaited

By FRANK RUTTER

Electoral officials expect a "very heavy" absentee vote to be counted Monday when the final makeup of B.C.'s new legislature will be decided.

Three ridings could change hands in the final count to be made on all 52 seats.

The CCF is chasing the Social Credit government in Nanaimo, Comox and Yale.

All the other seats were pretty firmly decided at first count polling day, Sept. 12.

Present standing is Social Credit 32, CCF 16, Liberal four.

HEAVY VOTE

"We understand from reports that there was a very heavy absentee vote in most districts," said an official of the electoral office today.

He said the final count has been put back to Monday, Sept. 26 from Saturday.

Under the Elections Act the count must be held 12 days after polling day.

Legal advisers said the official determined that 12 days was one minute after midnight Saturday. Sunday is a holiday, so the count is Monday.

Nanaimo and Comox will be decided mainly by fishermen and loggers who were unable to cast ballots at their home polling districts Sept. 12.

Some 500 votes are expected in Nanaimo, where Recreation Minister Earle Westwood is 112 votes ahead of CCFer Colin Cameron.

More than 1,000 votes are anticipated in Comox, where Dan Campbell has a lead of 116 over Fred Wood of the CCF.

STRACHAN HOPES

CCF Leader Robert Strachan has his hopes pinned highest on Comox, where a heavy percentage of votes in logging communities went to Wood at the regular polls.

He is also optimistic about the CCF chances in Yale, where Socred Irvine Corbett is 37 votes ahead of CCFer Evan McDougall, who is a logger.

If the final count in any of these ridings is any closer, then a recount is almost certain.

302 GROUPS

UBC Brings Seminars To Homes

More than 3,000 persons in communities large and small throughout B.C. will be attending university in their living rooms this fall and winter.

It's largely a case of the mountain coming to Mohammed.

People thirsting for knowledge can enrol in a unique study-discussion program entitled "Living Room Learning" administered by the extension department of UBC.

The program, which began three years ago, has proved one of the most successful ever undertaken by the university's extension department. A total of 302 groups are now in operation.

THROUGHOUT B.C.

At present there are six in Victoria, five in the Powell River area, seven in New Westminster, 21 in the Kootenays and 34 in Greater Vancouver.

List of topics from which groups can choose includes world politics, Russian foreign policy, Canada and world affairs, looking at modern painting and a new course, parenthood in a free nation.

Further details can be obtained from the UBC extension department.

'Feels Like Under House Arrest'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev stayed away from the UN General Assembly afternoon meeting today following two reported plots against his life, and told reporters he felt as if he were under house arrest.

The Russians reported they had received word of a plot to assassinate Khrushchev with a gun concealed in a camera and authoritative sources said New York police also were checking reports Hungarian refugees planned to firebomb the Russian embassy.

A high New York City police department spokesman said Russian reports of the camera gun plot by "Gestapo agents" appeared to be "part of the Russians' continuing propaganda battle," but it was understood they were checking out both reports.

Plans to Visit President Tito

He said he intends to visit President Tito of Yugoslavia who is visiting here, but did not know when.

Khrushchev said he would offer a disarmament plan before the General Assembly on Friday and that its plan was simply "to destroy all armaments under international control."

Asked about Eisenhower's open skies plan the president is expected to reintroduce Thursday, Khrushchev broadly gestured to heaven and shouted, "They are open."

As the questions were shouted back and forth girls from Hunter College directly across the broad avenue shouted at him but eventually quieted down when they realized what was going on.

He expressed views on almost everything including the heavy police guard and at one point told reporters:

"I feel I am under house arrest. I am not getting to see America."

IT DEPENDS ON IKE'S APPROACH

Will K Use Hard Sell Or Sweet Reason Line?

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UPI)—Communist sources indicated today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has two different speeches ready for his major United Nations address—one a "hard sell" and the other an appeal to sweet reason.

They said they had been told that the content and tone of the Russian leader's full-dress presentation to the General Assembly late this week would depend to a considerable extent on what President Eisenhower says when he speaks Thursday morning. Khrushchev is scheduled to follow the President—speaking Thursday afternoon or Friday.

There was a feeling among many UN delegates that they

dent would not see President

Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, Thursday. But officials did not rule out the possibility of a meeting with Nasser in New York next

Monday when Eisenhower

goes there to speak at a Catholic charities dinner that night.

Asked about the omission of Cuba and the Dominican Republic from the lunch list,

Hagerty said:

"We have no diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and we're certainly not going to invite Cuba."

He would not cite any specific reasons for omitting Cuba.

Complaints of Padding Silenced by Election

Chief electoral officer, Fred Hurley hasn't heard any more from the people who were charging before B.C.'s Sept. 12 election that voters' lists were padded.

An electoral official said in order to protect voting-privileges "the law makes it difficult to remove names."

No action has been taken

because there have been no

legal complaints, said Mr.

Hurley.

A complaint was made by telegram to the Vancouver returning officer and registrar of voters before the election that lists in Vancouver Centre were "padded" with names of persons either dead or moved away.

But so far no one has made a legal complaint to a county court judge.

Electoral officials say it is far harder to get a name

struck off the voters' lists than it is to add one.

One former B.C. voter, living in Ottawa three years, managed to return and cast a legal ballot in North Vancouver. He was on the voters' lists in 1956, but moved in 1957.

By re-registration at another address, this would automatically cancel a name on another

list.

If a person remains on the list of registered voters, he is entitled to a vote, said the official. The Ottawa man himself could furnish proof of his departure, and thus get off the list.

"That would be taking a big chance," said the official, "because the voter might be in another part of the district."

However, the Ottawa man could have been challenged at the polls and his vote held invalid. Now it is too late.

Other ways in which voters can be struck off the list:

By notification in a monthly report to all districts from the department of vital statistics that they are dead. This still doesn't cover people who die

away from their home electoral district.
